

Teamwork in the hybrid workplace:

Create a secure, collaborative environment with modern devices

A hybrid workplace is emerging. Some employees will work remotely, some will work from the office, and some will elect to do both.

Here are three keys to success for businesses considering a hybrid work environment.

Inclusivity: Dissolve physical boundaries

Virtual meeting experiences must be inclusive, whether people are sitting a few feet or hundreds of miles apart. Everyone must be seen and heard, no matter where they're physically located.

Agility: Give everyone a front-row seat

The ability to meet in different workspaces and locations with real-time file sharing and collaboration is paramount. Agility makes time together—virtual or physical—more productive.

Security: Protect people and their ideas

Employees need to feel that in the office, their health and well-being are priorities. And data and information must always be secure and protected, especially in a shared environment.

Empower your employees to connect and collaborate safely and securely—in any hybrid work environment—with Microsoft Surface Hub 2S.

► Learn more about Surface Hub 2S technology to bring teams together.

¹ Gartner Press Release, "Gartner Survey Reveals 82% of Company Leaders Plan to Allow Employees to Work Remotely Some of the Time," July 2020. www.gartner.com/en/newsroom/press-releases/2020-07-14-gartner-survey-reveals-82-percent-of-company-leaders-plan-to-allow-employees-to-work-remotely-some-of-the-time.
² Gensler, "Only 12% of U.S. workers want to work from home full-time. Most want to return to the workplace, but with critical changes," 2020. www.gensler.com/us-wfh-survey-2020-wfh-reinforces-the-benefits-of-the-office.